

DID YOU THINK IT OVER?

Did you, Mr. Capitalist, think on Labor Day whether you were playing the game fair? Did you think, Mr. Workman, whether or not you were doing the same? And you, Mr. Trust Maker, Local and State, as you reach out to grab, simply to squeeze more out of the people, did you resolve to desist and give every one a chance. You, Mr. Politician, who simply say things you do not believe in and are on all sides of the public questions and believe with Barnum, did you decide to play fair? Do you realize that the people are going to unmask you one of these days?

TWO NEAR FATAL AUTO ACCIDENTS

Miss Driscoll at Hospital Unconscious--
Young Maddock Cut and Bruised.

Richards avenue was the scene of what might have been two fatal auto accidents this noon, one at 12 o'clock, when Maddock, who was driving a delivery wagon, was in collision with a Worcester, Mass., auto owned by Alvin Johnson.

The accident happened at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Richards Ave. Young Maddock was badly cut and bruised and the wagon and auto badly damaged.

At one o'clock an auto owned by Mr. Runge of New Jersey with a Maine license struck a young 15-year old girl at the corner of Richards Ave. and Austin street. She was badly cut and injured and when picked up by E. C. Matthews, J. E. Pickering and others, was unconscious. At 2 o'clock she had not fully recovered and was at the Portsmouth Hospital where she was taken. When discovered her body was on the bumper of the Maine car license No. 43-634.

The young lady injured was Miss Anna Driscoll of Cornwall street and the car number was 43-634 owned by H. P. Runge, Kennelbunk Beach. The car was according to eye witnesses only moving 15 miles per hour and the driver was approaching the corner very slowly as he had just stopped to inquire the route to a point beyond. He carried the young lady to the hospital.

U. S. Interstate Commerce Favors Combination of R. R. in Large Divisions With U. S. Control

THE BOLSHEVIKI ARE SURROUNDED

(By Associated Press)
Copenhagen, Sept. 2.—The Lithuanian legation announces that the Bolsheviki have been surrounded on the Lithuanian front. They are offering to make peace with the Lithuanians whose advance continues.

THE WEATHER

Washington, Sept. 2.—Cloudy tonight. Rain on the east coast, slightly cooler, Wednesday fair. Moderate winds mostly northeast and north.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Private ownership and operation of railroads in a number of regional systems and strict government control with strikes and lockouts of railroad employees prohibited is the plan for permanent railroad legislation submitted to the Senate by the Interstate Commerce subcommittee. A tentative bill embodying the subcommittee's recommendations which bears no resemblance to the Plumb plan has been introduced by Senator Cummins and reported to the full Interstate Commerce Committee. Salient provisions of the Cummins bill include termination of government control and return of the railroads to private ownership on the last day of the month of enactment, establishing the Interstate Commerce Commission with great increased powers as the supreme body over railroad affairs, supervision and control of virtually all railroad affairs including rates, wages, tariffs and finances by the government, creation of a new committee on wages and working conditions composed equally of representatives of employees and employers with wide authority in settling labor questions, prohibiting strikes and lockout of railroad employees under fine and imprisonment penalties. The bill also provides that existing railroad payments contracts with the government shall be continued no longer than 4 months and that present rates shall continue until changed by the Interstate Commerce committee. The keynote of the subcommittee's bill Chairman Cummins stated in an explanation to the Senate was the plan for the establishment of 20 to 35 regional rail systems.

Washington, Sept. 2.—A law to prohibit strikes and lockouts of railroad employees was advocated by Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, in an address today in the Senate. "The time has come," he said, "when Congress must protect the public against loss of life and property and widespread suffering which will inevitably result if the railroads should be tied up by a general strike. The right to strike has heretofore been recognized under our laws particularly in certain provisions of the Clayton Act. These laws should be modified and strikes of employees of railroads engaged in interstate commerce should be forbidden."

Paris, Sept. 2.—The Supreme Council decided today to send a note in forcible terms to the German government pointing out a contradiction with the Versailles treaty of the provision

CARDINAL MERCIER OFF FOR THE U. S.

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Sept. 2.—Cardinal Mercier left Paris today for Drest to sail for the United States. He said that he was visiting America because having been in contact with the great work of the Americans for relief of the Belgians during the great war, he wanted to thank them on their own soil and because he was glad to accept invitations received from virtually all the universities of America.

PRINCE GIVEN TREMENDOUS WELCOME

(By Associated Press)
Montreal, Sept. 2.—The ringing of church bells and a shrieking of factory whistles greeted the Prince of Wales as his special train arrived here today in contact with the great work of the Americans for relief of the Belgians during the great war, he wanted to thank them on their own soil and because he was glad to accept invitations received from virtually all the universities of America.

COUNCIL COMPLETES TREATY

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Aug. 30.—The Austrian peace treaty has now virtually been completed by the Supreme Council for submission to the Austrian plenipotentiaries, leaves the future of Austria largely to the League of Nations. The League will be able to decide whether Austria will be permitted to join Germany. As France, Switzerland and many other countries oppose such a union there apparently is little chance of Austria's securing permission to terminate her position as a separate state should she so desire in the future. There seems to be a general feeling of dissatisfaction in peace conference circles with the treaty which was adopted from the German treaty and does not fit a small power well. The council had agreed on virtually all sections of the treaty because there was a general weariness with the discussion.

TRANSPORT RESERVE IS PLANNED

Washington, Sept. 1.—Organization of a permanent "transport reserve" capable of carrying 142,000 troops is proposed by the war department as a part of the army reorganization plan. This reserve, with the regular army transport fleet, would make it possible to move an expeditionary force of nearly 200,000 men immediately on the outbreak of war.

The plan as outlined by Brig. General Frank T. Hines, in charge of the army transport service, contemplates reserving title to 15 of the former German passenger ships and a number of cargo-carriers with their allocation to commercial lines on the condition that the crews be enlisted in the transport reserve and that no structural changes in the vessels be made by the operators. All of the ships now are in perfect shape for army use and General Hines would have them subject to periodical inspection by army engineers to ensure their being kept in that state.

The Leviathan, George Washington, Mount Vernon and Savannah are among the ships listed to be retained if Congress approves the plan.

HIGH OFFICIALS SAY GOODBYE TO PERSHING

Paris, Sept. 1.—Premier Clemenceau, Foreign Minister Pichon and Captain Andre Tardieu were among the high French officials who bade farewell to General Pershing on his departure for Beirut yesterday. The American ambassador and his staff and the entire American peace delegation were present. There was a military escort of two companies.

In saying "goodbye" to the American commander, M. Clemenceau declared that the French people could never express all the gratitude felt for the services he had rendered. The premier urged General Pershing to revisit France and afford the French an opportunity to show their appreciation of the work he had done in the great war.

A great crowd had gathered at the Invalides station to bid General Pershing farewell as he started for Beirut, from where he sailed today for New York on board the Leviathan, marking the close of his two years and more service in France.

During the past week General Pershing has been feted by all the prominent French officials.

"LEST WE FORGET"

I called at the Hon. Horace Mitchell's office a short time ago on a business matter.

While there the proposed new bridge was spoken of. I am confident that every citizen of Kittery, Bath and York is aware that the success of that undertaking is almost entirely due to Mr. Mitchell's efforts. He has worked in season and out of season, in office and out of office, against many obstacles, not the least of which was the general apathy of most of his fellow-citizens. He was very modest about his work for the bridge,—in fact, he never mentioned it. He did speak with much pleasure of the receipt of a letter from Gov. Milliken; also said the Governor sent him the pen with which the resolve was signed. The Governor congratulated him on the result of "the diligent and effective campaign which you have conducted for this long needed public improvement." I also wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to Mr. Mitchell as a 100 percent American and a faithful public servant.

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN

Girl! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

ODD ITEMS FROM EVERYWHERE

Three South Portland fishermen, Dr. George W. C. Studley, Percy York and Capt. William York, were out after groundfish when they sighted a swordfish. They had no swordfish fishing outfit, but with a stove poker and a boathook handle they improvised a harpoon, with which they landed the big fellow. In Portland they sold the swordfish for $50, and the groundfish they had caught—about 1000 pounds—for $60.

Canadian money is accepted at a discount in this country now, but a Windsor, Ont., merchant says that in the early days of his business his firm had cash books where American money and Canadian money had to be kept in separate accounts, because American money was worth only about 50 cents on the dollar at that time. ## HALLS ARE COMING BACK.

The demand for the console and mirror grows. It should. This charming pair of furnishings is transforming our halls from dreary outposts to gracious ante-chambers. Indeed, for some years now architects have been robbing us of our halls, but they are coming back, bless them, and no doubt the revival of the console has had something to do with it.

We need halls, as our ancestors so well knew. They serve as a gentle stepping stone from the out-doors into the warm hospitality of the home. It is so much better to step into a hall, get our bearings, gain a fleeting impression of mine host, and draw breath before passing on, than to be let abruptly into the heart of the home. Isn't it?

And what nicer compliment to the guest, than a console and mirror similar to the one above, in the hall.

Delegate Staten Who is in Washington Makes Appeal to Navy Yard Workmen For Financial Aid and Support

The following letter from delegate Fred N. Staten, who is in Washington in the interest of the Metal Trades Council, received by the executive board of the Metal Trades Council, will be read with interest by the men employed on the navy yard.

The letter is as follows:
Washington, D. C., Aug. 31, 1919.
Executive Board Metal Trades Council:—I am still on the job and working hard to hold our ground. At present the bill is before the committee and as it is a general deficiency bill for all departments we have to wait our turn for a hearing, but we understand that they will reach us by Wednesday at the latest, and this is the most critical point in its passage, for one vote against it while in the committee will throw it out and then we would have to fight for it on the floor of the house and get it referred back again.

I want all the people at home to know that we feel sure of success, but you know nothing is safe until it is landed and we are bringing every influence attainable to bear to put this over. We are sure of the Senate now, but were up against a tough proposition with one Senator Friday, but succeeded in finally winning him over to our unqualified support.

This has been a hard trip and I wish it was over for it is requiring an immense personal loss to my own affairs, and I cannot say that I feel I have had the support from the men at home I should have had, but this may have been through confidence or misunderstanding.

By this time you have seen and heard Schanschieff's report and must have some idea of what I am up against, but still, here it is late Sunday and no word yet. How do I know whether the officials at the yard want more work in the best shop, or other department. How do I know whether they have sufficient funds for the work they have or are they in a position to do more work than they have on hand, and what do they want for the future am I to guess all these things and look like a fool if I make a poor guess.

Am I to stay here until this is an asured success without necessary funds? Do you expect me to spend all my own money and still remain in doubt as to where my wages are coming from.

You must know this is an expensive proposition, but do you realize that Portsmouth is getting out of it easy? Boston has already spent $1,000 on this fight and are willing to double it if necessary and are now collecting $1 from every man on the yard for just such work as this. If our yard was not got spirit and loyalty enough to raise five or six hundred dollars we better drop the whole thing and let them close the yard up.

I expect you or someone to telegraph me $100 upon receipt of this letter, and I am very much surprised that it was not done as soon as Schanschieff got back.

There are greater things ahead of Portsmouth than just this little bill we are fighting for. If everyone will take hold and do their share I believe we have started a great drive, while here that will help Portsmouth for years to come.

I am very glad that I came down here, for I have been able to obtain a lot of valuable information for future use, and I am in a better position to serve the laboring men of Portsmouth. We were up against it Friday when copies of the Chronicle arrived here stating that navy yard men were after $1.25 per hour basic rate. If the words "navy yard" had been left out we could have fixed it up all right; and that is the part I wanted refuted. But we were able to overcome the damage done in a way that was both dangerous and successful, but I will tell you more about this when I return.

I am not letting anything interfere with the main issue I was sent here for, and what other matters I take up will be done when I have nothing else to do, and I will not touch on anything that will stand in the way of this bill receiving the full support of all Congressmen.

I will close now as I feel I have made the situation clear to you, I am as ever,

Yours fraternally,
FRED N. STATEN.

THREE DAY CONFERENCE AT BETHLEHEM GOVERNORS WOULD REDUCE THE H. C. L.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—Col. Henry S. Graves, forester and chief of the forest service of the department of agriculture, will attend a forestry conference at Bethlehem, N. H., in the White Mountains, Sept. 2, 3, and 4. Col. Graves will speak on Sept. 3, and will emphasize the need for a comprehensive national program of forestry. The conference will be under the auspices of the Society for Protection of New Hampshire Forests. The increased demand for forest products of all kinds makes it necessary that adequate provision be made to safeguard the timber lands of this country.

Colonel Graves has just returned from the west, where he held a series of conferences with private owners of timber lands, state officials and others interested in the development of a national forestry program. The continued production of timber from lands not needed for other purposes is believed to be a vital necessity for the public welfare. It is regarded as necessary that the United States adopt a policy to safeguard the timber lands of this country, so as to be in a position to meet its future requirements.

Washington, Sept. 1.—State agencies began functioning in close co-operation with the federal government yesterday in the campaign to reduce the cost of living, as a result of the conferences held with President Wilson and Attorney General Palmer by the committee of state governors.

The committee assured the attorney general that every state agency would be placed at his disposal for any information or assistance he might desire. The committee's endorsement of Mr. Palmer's suggestion that a fair price commissioner be appointed in each state and fair price committees in the different localities also was announced after the conference at which the attorney general declared that if satisfactory results in the elimination of profiteering were not obtained through these instrumentalities the department of justice "would handle these questions directly."

Six governors, Gardner, Missouri; Milliken, Maine; Minquist, Minnesota; Campbell, Arizona; Sprout, Pennsylvania, and Cooper, South Carolina, and Lieutenant Governor McDowell of Montana, representing the national conference of governors, spent several hours studying the situation with Attorney General Palmer at the White House to offer President Wilson the full machinery of the state in the effort to restore a normal price level.

As a result there was greater optimism in the capital over the outlook than has been evident in many days. With the far-reaching state organizations carrying the message of economy and increased production into every country and adding the federal authorities in bringing to justice hoarders and profiteers, officials believed excellent results could be obtained in the next 30 days, which would avert the menace of transportation strikes to obtain higher wages.

"After our meeting with the President and the attorney general," the committee of governors announced, "certain facts are clear:

"1.—That all the people of the nation and all organizations should immediately co-operate for the purpose of increasing the production of the necessities of life.

"2.—That economy in consumption and care in purchasing the necessities of life are equally important with production.

"3.—That every agency of the federal and state governments should co-operate forthwith to prevent profiteering."

BURNETTE-DAILEY

The marriage of Miss Helen M. Dailey, daughter of Mrs. Alberta O. Dailey, and Chief Pharmacist Milt Wade M. Burnette, U. S. N., of Chattanooga, Tenn., took place Monday morning at the Methodist parsonage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Elmer E. Newell.

Miss Charlotte E. Dailey, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and the best man was Lieutenant George D. Purdy, U. S. M. C.

The bride was attractively attired in a traveling dress of navy blue and wore a black velvet hat.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Middle street.

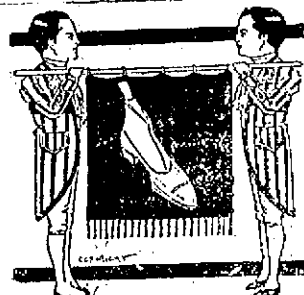

The happy couple left on the 10:30 train on their bridal trip, which will include New York and a visit to the groom's home at Chattanooga.

On their return they will reside in this city.

The groom is attached to the Naval hospital, and the bride has for some time been employed as a clerk at P. W. Staught's store.

They start their new life under the most favorable auspices and with the best wishes of a large circle of acquaintances.

HENRY HALL ONCE MORE A SHIP'S COOK

The Rev. Henry H. Hall, whose sensational trial and subsequent acquittal on the charge of murdering his wife, Minnie O. Stevens Hall, at Wells Depot, Me., commanded interest all over New England a few months ago, is out of the ministry.

Hall has turned to cooking as a means of livelihood and, so far, has made two trips to sea as ship's cook. There is a possibility of his leaving this section of the country for the west.

Hall has been visiting in Portland, Lawrence and Boston during the last few days. He told friends whom he met that he no longer calls himself a minister. The last few months have seen his return to the employment of his earlier years, that of a cook. Hall has been working ashore since he left his last vessel following two trips to sea.

The former pastor of the Union Baptist church at Wells Depot intimated in conversation he is seriously considering going west to live, but said he was undecided. He is confident that he could get work as a cook most anywhere, and that he could do pretty well at that trade for some time to come.

The Wells Depot clergyman looked fairly well. He is brown and much more healthy looking than when he was the centre of so much interest at the Saco, Me., courthouse in February.

It was charged in the indictment under which Hall was tried that on June 11, 1918, his wife, Minnie O. Stevens Hall, met her death at the hands of her husband, Mrs. Hall and her husband were walking on the evening of June 11, 1918, near the Little River stream at Wells Depot, Me. A bridge without railing crosses the stream.

Hall declared later that Mrs. Hall and himself were admiring the beauties of the stream and its ideal location for fishing, when Mrs. Hall fell. He said he waded into the water to rescue her. She died at the hospital a few hours later.

Hall was arrested on Aug. 19, charged with the murder of his wife. The arrest of Hall some two months after the bridge episode, created quite a stir in the quiet town of Wells and, in fact, all over York county. Hall always protested his innocence, and on the witness stand swore to his innocence.

El Paso, Sept. 1.—Adam Schaffer, an American citizen, was killed at his mine by Mexican bandits, according to a message received here today. He was 55 years of age and an independent miner.

DOVER PASTOR DIES IN CANADA

Dover, Sept. 1.—Word has been received of the death in Three Rivers, P. Q., of Rev. Joseph A. Leonard, pastor of St. Charles' church. Father Leonard had been in failing health for three months. About a month ago, he was advised by his physicians to go to the sanatorium at Three Rivers.

Father Leonard was born in Manchester 54 years ago, and received his early education in the schools of that city.

Thirty years ago, at the age of 24, he was ordained by Bishop Bradley, in Manchester. Since that time, he has served continually in the state of New Hampshire. Before coming here, four years ago, he had been pastor of churches at Salmon Falls and at Whitefield.

The funeral will be from St. Charles church, Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. E. Lauziere, who was with him at the time of his death, will accompany the body to this city.

GASOLINE TURBINE ENGINE

Paris, A. 1.—The gas turbine, which a large German company is reported to be manufacturing, is, it is claimed here, a practical application by Germans of French discoveries. The principle of this turbine was worked out by French inventors but the trials and experiments were interrupted by the war.

Briefly, the engine consists of a spherical combustion chamber in which vaporized gasoline and air are admitted by separate pipes and exploded, as in the ordinary gasoline motor, by an electric spark. Another tube conveys the jet of gas against the vanes of a turbine enclosed in a metal casing to which the propeller is directly attached. It is claimed that the turbine motor gives the same power as a piston motor on half the gasoline. The engine is said to be much lighter than the ordinary airplane engine and to make little noise.

"NOTHING DOING" IN COTTON

Kitchen Maids of Sultan of Morocco Entitled to Nether Garments of Expensive Stuff.

The sultan of Morocco was always an absolute monarch, and in that capacity the revenues of the country were his. There had never been any distinction between public funds and private funds—all belonged to the sultan. It was therefore no easy task to arrive at an agreement as to which were state and which private debts, so inextricably mixed had they been in the past. There was, for instance, a bill for some hundreds of yards of very expensive and very fine crimson cloth. Naturally the protectorate authorities scheduled this among the private debts. The sultan protested. The cloth, he said, had been purchased for governmental purposes—in fact for the trousers of the imperial kitchen maids; for there are several hundred slave-women employed in preparing the palace food. The protectorate government refused to be responsible for this debt. The ex-sultan drew up a historical treatise to prove that imperial kitchen maids were part and parcel of the state, and passed, like the palace itself, from sultan to sultan. The principle was accepted, but the debt was disallowed on the ground that these good ladies did not require such expensive stuff for their nether garments. A cotton material, they argued, would have equally well served the purpose. The sultan's reply was unanswerable and crushing. "In Europe," he said, "it may be the custom for the imperial kitchen maids to wear cotton trousers, but in Morocco we have more appreciation of the dignity of their position." There was nothing more to be said. The debt was paid—by the protectorate government.—From "The Liquidation of a Sultanate," by W. B. Harris, in "Asia" magazine.

FOLLOWED PATHS OF PEACE

Aborigines of Texas Unlike the Florida Tribes of Other Sections of the Country.

Stone implements found in ancient workshops in Texas, indicating French, Spanish or American settlers, prove that the original settlers of this state were not like the fierce tribes encountered in modern times by the white settlers.

Little is known about the aboriginal population of Texas, which lies between the Pueblo and mound builders' area, but Dr. J. Walter Hawkes, chief of the American bureau of ethnology, added by Professor Peavey of the University of Texas, have located some long-forgotten village sites. Their investigations tend to the belief that the original people of the middle part of the state were hunters, while those of the eastern part near the timber belt, were followers of agricultural pursuits and were skilled in the manufacture of pottery. They resembled the mound builders. The western part of the state was a more elevated and less arid plateau. Here the people resembled the Pueblos of New Mexico. Some of the tribes are reported to have been cannibals. In the opening of the eighteenth century Apaches, Comanches and other savage tribes roamed over Texas, following the buffalo, or raiding across it into Mexico. There seems to have been constant hostility with these Indians, in which many smaller tribes were exterminated.

Remarkable Chimpanzee Dies.

A few weeks ago there died a chimpanzee who had spent the eight years of his life defying all rules laid down for the well being of chimpanzees. His name was Antony, and he was the only one of his tribe of monkeys who has ever managed to stand an English climate unmitigated by artificial heat. He came from the Congo in 1911, when he was very young and small. At that time he weighed 14 pounds, by last summer he was just six times as heavy. During the whole period of his civilized life he was kept in a brick building facing southwest and unheated, and he slept in straw without blankets. Chocolates and sweets—poison to ordinary chimpanzees—were the special treats of Antony's diet, and he had a less comprehensible fancy for beans.—Manchester Guardian.

The "Amen Corner."

The phrase "amen corner" is said to have originated in London, where, at the end of Paternoster row, the monks at one time finished their recitation of the "Pater Noster" as they went in procession on Corpus Christi day to St. Paul's cathedral. They began in Paternoster row with the Lord's prayer in Latin, continuing it to the end of the street, and then said "amen" at the corner of the row. As used in this country the phrase described the corner of a church where the elderly members sit and pronounce the word "amen" at intervals.

Fisherman's Mascot.

A mascot to which deep-sea fishermen attach great importance is a tiny flat stone or bone found in the ear of plaice and other fish. The wearer of one of these stones is supposed to be immune to the danger of drowning. It is easy to find these stones in the ears of fish, although they are no bigger than a split lentil. Anybody who cares to look for one and to examine it will see on its surface light and dark rings similar to those found on a larger scale in tree trunks. The number of rings tells the age of the fish, and a new ring appears each year.

Why 75 Per Cent of Fall River Trucks Ride on Goodrich Truck Tires

No show of words—just one concrete example will explain:

On one of the trucks of the Fred L. Allen Lumber Co., Fall River, Goodrich De Luxe Truck Tires have amassed the magnificent service record of 38,000 miles per tire.

These tires have nearly quadrupled the adjustment mileage—have reduced the first cost, through service, to one-fourth.

They have saved Mr. Allen a large amount of money.

Such service tells the story of De Luxe preference—a preference that is widening rapidly throughout all New England.

If you are not using De Luxe Tires, you're passing up a grand chance to cut your operating costs. Try them!

Believes Most Men Honest

People who think that rich men are in the habit of evading their taxes should be interested in what was said a few days ago by William H. Edwards, "Big Bill" Edwards, as he is familiarly known. He is internal revenue collector of the Wall Street, New York, district. Some one asked him if the rich men pay their taxes, and his reply was that they do, and that they are just as honest as any other class of the population, notwithstanding the suspicion of many that they have ways of evading their just share of the public burden.

Collector Edwards not only finds that rich men, as a rule, make no attempt to evade their taxes, but that in matters of this kind the great majority of men are honest. He says that last year his office collected half a billion dollars in taxes and that it may collect a billion dollars this year, and there has been nothing in his experience to show that heavy tax payers are trying to evade their obligations.

Mr. Edwards believes the people of the country will stand together as solidly in bearing the burdens created by the war as they did in prosecuting the war. He is clearly an optimist with an abounding faith in the American people. He calls attention to the fact the rich and poor served side by side in the ranks, and that among the heroes sleeping in the soil of France are many sons of the wealthiest people in the country. The American people stood together in that great struggle, and Mr. Edwards is confident that they will stand together in paying the cost, which will be the work of years. But team work won the war and team work will accomplish what remains to be done, tremendous as is the cost.

Great as is the cost, Collector Edwards believes that what was accomplished is worth the cost, and more. "What price," he asked, "would we not have paid a year ago to have the world at peace? True, the cost in life and treasure has been great, but who can say what the cost would have been if the foe had won? We would be a nation of serfs instead of enjoying the free air of this God-given land."

In the perplexities of the time—and there are many of them—it will be well for all to bear in mind the plain truths expressed by a man who is able to look beyond the troubles and burdens of the hour to a future which will well repay the country and the world for the sacrifices made in behalf of humanity.

So far as taxation is concerned it is a safe assumption that all classes of the population, from the richest to the poorest, are ready and willing to bear their share. The debts contracted of this country and of the world, and they will be cheerfully paid. All that is necessary is for the rich and poor to stand shoulder to shoulder in peace as they did in war and to avoid the suspicion that any class is trying to shift to another its fair share of the common burden.

In Lawrence, Mass., a man was found the other day industriously manufacturing rum in his home. The outfit and the liquor were seized and the man was placed under arrest. His defense is that he is a sufferer from asthma, that rum is an effective palliative and that he was making a supply to keep him alive through the coming winter. But if asthma would justify the operation of a still would there not be reason to fear an alarming spread of the disease?

Better advertising for General Ludendorff's book, telling the story of the war from the German standpoint, there could hardly have been than the request of two United States Senators that American newspapers decline to publish any part of it. Boys in this country never become old enough not to want what somebody is trying to keep away from them.

The Massachusetts Commission on the Necessaries of Life says that unless there is an early loosening up of shipping there will be a serious coal shortage in that state next winter. The Marine strike resulted in tying up a lot of coal-carrying barges, and they have not yet been liberated. And it seems as if somebody ought to be called upon to explain why.

Reports from Chicago are to the effect that there has been a considerable drop in the wholesale price of meats, but that the public will not get the benefit until the retailers have disposed of the high priced stocks on hand. And by that time the wholesale price will probably go up again.

Are you a member of the Portsmouth Historical Society? If not, remember that there is room and a hearty welcome for you in the ranks of that public-spirited and deserving organization.

Canada has decided to co-operate with the United States in the campaign against the high cost of living. Mr. Taft should be gratified by this much of "reciprocity," even at this late day.

NAVAL PRISONERS SCORE BIG HIT IN FINAL SHOW

The final in the series of summer shows by the Mutual Welfare League Dramatic Company of the naval prison was given at Portsmouth Theatre on Monday evening and also a matinee performance in the afternoon. The prisoners scored the greatest success yet in this presentation, which included a burlesque on Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and an entirely original dance pantomime, "In Old Madrid."

The presentations gave scope for elaborate scenic effects and brilliant and artistic variety of color in costumes. The principal parts were cleverly acted and by some of the old favorites and all who took part in the production added to its success, going through the different scenes admirably and applause was abundant throughout the entertainment. In the pantomime "In Old Madrid" gorgeous Spanish costumes were worn and the stage settings were effective. The dance in this scene was gracefully executed and caused liberal applause. The part of Peralta, the Spirit of Comedy, was well taken by C. H. Hall. The pantomime had a grand finale which caused unbounded applause.

At its close John Wright made a pronounced hit in buck and wing dancing, during which he kept the audience in excitement, showing his ability as a comedian as well as a dancer. He was recalled several times. The songs by M. V. McLaughlin followed and were finely rendered and delighted the audience and in responded to encourage.

The comic scenes from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," one of Shakespeare's earlier plays, in which arose all sorts of funny complications, kept the audience in mirth and merriment during its presentation. In this there was an entirely different style of costuming, that worn in old Greek times, and in the third part the scenic effects and costumes were especially elaborate.

The parts were cleverly taken in this and the play just sparkled with charm and amusing situations, in which the principles found themselves causing much laughter from the audience. In the wedding procession the scene was especially imposing and hardly seemed possible that some of the prisoners were so well taking the parts of fair maidens gown in shimmering white satin and lace.

A wrestling match was added to the scene and interested the audience. The dances were especially elaborate and the performances ended with a balloon dance, a fitting finale to a splendid undertaking.

While the audience was not so large as the production warranted, those who were present will long recall the play with much pleasure. The costumes were from Wolff, Fording & Co., Boston; the veils from A. Roth.

Too much praise cannot be said of the fine orchestra which was led by Lieut. Com. Thomas Mott Osborne, superintendent of the naval prison. There were 14 musicians, most of them being prisoners or restored men, and the music was a feature of the evening. There were many music lovers in the audience, all of whom listened with close attention to the fine selection so well rendered. The music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Mendelssohn Wedding March, the ever familiar strains of the Mlada opera, "A Wanderer Minstrel," "The Willow," "Three Little Maids from School," "Flowers that Bloom in the Spring," etc., were again listened to with pleasure, while other selections equally pleasing were also played and each given the applause of the audience.

The prisoners deserve great praise for their excellent summer shows and their work certainly pleased all, being far above all expectations.

The program was as follows:
Orchestra ..... Overture
An entirely original Dance Pantomime, entitled "In Old Madrid"
Prologue: Adapted from song, "In Old Madrid" by Giffon Blagburn. Music by H. Trotter.
Pierrot, The Spirit of Comedy ..... C. H. Hall

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

How to Attain Health

Editor:—
The habit of taking long walks and other outdoor exercise is something unknown to many people and to their own detriment. When our forefathers walked miles to and from their work each day and even rode on bicycles years later, they usually kept themselves in a good physical condition.

Today there are many people riding in cars and autos which are convenient and swift as well as pleasant and healthy. But the outdoor exercise is not gained this way that is needed by busy working indoors at a desk or bench all day. Some find healthful recreation in golf and baseball, but there is no benefit to the health to those watching a ball game. Neither is it a benefit to the health to spend spare time dancing in a crowded hall, though many expend more energy in his form of exercise than they ever do at their daily toil. The time spent by the young in ball playing, rowing and other such sports is a great help to the growing bodies. There are a large number of middle-aged people, however, who do not take the outdoor exercise they need, and they would be greatly improved in mind and body if they changed their habits. To arise before the sun and to take a few miles walk before breakfast will improve and invigorate a person and make him feel salubrious. The writer knows by experience. When our ancestors followed the rule of early to bed and early to rise, and also kept themselves much to the open air, they were not obliged to call a physician frequently as we do today. It is another and circumstance that there are probably thousands of people who never see the sunrise, one of the greatest of nature's beauties.

WORTHY COUPLE GIVEN HEARTY FAREWELL

A party from the Methodist Society gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Knight on State street Monday evening to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Chandler M. Hayford, who leave this evening for Washington, D. C., to take up their residence. Among the number was Rev. Elmer F. Newell, pastor of the Methodist church and wife, and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hayford were presented with a purse of money from the Methodist society this being as a tribute of friendship and esteem.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayford are members of the Methodist society, the former being a member of the official board of the Methodist church for many years. Although impaired health and loss of sight has made him unable to attend church regularly, he and Mrs. Hayford will ever keep up their interest in the society and were very popular in the parish. They leave Portsmouth with the best wishes not only of their church society but of people of Portsmouth, being among our city's most highly respected residents.

They will be accompanied as far as New York by their son, Dr. Herbert S. Hayford and his daughter Louise of Cleveland, Ohio, who have been passing a few weeks in this city.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Salaried Man "Stuck."

(From the Savannah News)
Attorney General Palmer said something the other day when he was discussing the proposed investigation into the apparently too high cost of living. He said that while economic conditions were the fundamental cause of the high prices of necessities, violations of laws designed to prevent concerted raising of prices also might be partly responsible. And then he went on:

"There is no doubt that the majority of the people are more prosperous than ever before, farmers and wage-earners especially. The man who has suffered from high prices has been the salaried man. I wish we could do something to help him. I'm open to suggestions."

While the ones who have suggestions to offer are putting them into presentable and workable shape, it is an appropriate time to pay a deserved tribute to the qualities of the average salaried man who has borne the burden of the high cost of living incident to the war and who has suffered perhaps more than the men who have been in big profitable business, more than the farmer who has reaped a harvest of gold from his fields, more than the wage-earner, who has found increase after increase awaiting him on demand.

The average salaried man has kept on the job; he has fed and clothed his family somehow; he has done his full share in buying bonds and sticking away thrift stamps and in giving to all the war causes, he has plucked and economized, taken on extra hours in the home garden; he has done his duty in the main bravely, loyally, patiently, nobly.

The biggest thing about him is that he hasn't kicked and howled; he hasn't threatened and menaced; he hasn't bombed or bombarded; he hasn't often complained. He has, instead, borne the middle of the big load and been a good citizen about it. He is not a whit less of a hero than some others whose work has been more spectacular and whose suffering has been more sanguine. He deserves a tribute!

Will Get Hit By Their Own Shot

(From the New York World)

Every increase in the normal cost of living is equivalent to a decrease in wages, but every decrease in the normal cost of living is equivalent to an increase in wages. The President is asking the railroad shippers to help him bring about a real increase in wages in place of the nominal increase they have asked for, and to help bring it about for all wage-earners, not merely for themselves. An advance in railroad wages means simply an advance in freight rates and an advance in freight rates means an advance in the cost of living to everybody, and the vicious spiral of higher prices would begin anew.

The President makes it plain that there is a limit to this process, and if the railroad employees are wise they will treat his refusal to increase wages in the spirit in which it was made. They are suffering no special hardships. On the contrary, they are relatively better paid than the vast majority of American workmen and far better paid than the clerical and professional classes who have been the chief victims of the system of pyramiding prices.

The question before them is whether they will help to cure a most serious situation or whether they will employ the brute power of organization to make it immeasurably worse. They can tie up the vast transportation systems of the country, cause great suffering, enormous financial losses and even destroy human life. But they are bound to share in all the misery they create. Neither they nor their families can escape.

Thayer delivered an historical address Monday evening at the 25th anniversary mass meeting held in Westfield, Mass., the town of his boyhood, where a three days' celebration is taking place. Mr. Thayer had as his subject "The Spirit of Old Westfield, the Story of a Democratic Community." His address was scholarly and cultivated, here and there with touches of humor. Nearly 1500 people were present at the gathering.

To Keep Castaways Dry.

Louis O. Anderson has invented a "storm cover" for boats which, when adjusted, covers both boat and rower so completely that waves and rain will roll off it as water rolls off a duck's back. The suit, which includes a headpiece, is made full at its juncture with the rubberized cover, says the Popular Science Monthly, so that the person may try to paddle with one of the oars while sitting in the stern with the tail spread out behind him. His other oar makes a backbone for the cover.

KIDNAPPED SON FROM STEPMOTHER

There was quite a bit of excitement at 110 State street on Monday when the father of Charles W. Runney suddenly appeared in an automobile and kidnapped her 14 year old son from the home of his stepmother.

It appeared that the father had previously agreed to provide for the boy by the payment of $16 per week by order of Judge Gupitt of the Municipal Court.

The son was inclined to show more of a liking for the stepmother and decided to stay with her. The father wanted the boy and took this means of getting him. He was taken to North Andover, Mass., where the father is now located.

What action will follow may depend on what is brought to the attention of the court.

The New and Correct in Millinery

Shall it be large hats or small? Whatever your question, our millinery opening answers all questions.

Interesting and lovely are the new hats, rivaling each other in beauty. There are small turbans with soft shirrings of velvet—so kind to the face—and much is made of the large drooping model for it not only has Paris endorsement but is unequalled for charm of line and colorings.

TREMENDOUS FOREST FIRE LOSSES

(By Associated Press)

Bethlehem, N. H., Sept. 2.—Pointing to the tremendous forest fire losses every year and to the three states swept by fires this summer, Chas. L. Pack, President of the American Forestry Association of Washington, today urged foresters and timberland owners to get together on a cooperative fire protection plan as the first step toward a national forest policy. "Germany built its empire and developed its wonderful strength upon financial foundations furnished by its forests," said Mr. Pack in addressing the New England forestry conference here, "and now the United States must decide upon a national forest policy in order to perpetuate its timber supply. We have no adequate forest policy now. The United States is far behind France, that British, Germany, Japan and other nations in this respect. The United States has only about 1-4 of its original forests and this is now disappearing three times faster than it is being replaced."

TO COMBINE ALL WAR VETERAN SOCIETIES

(By Associated Press)

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 2.—C. E. Adams, commander in chief of the G. A. R. announced today that he would recommend at the National Encampment at Columbus, O., next week that steps be taken to federate the G. A. R., the American Legion, The Spanish War Veterans, and all our patriotic organizations. "The purpose of the federation he said, would be to foster Americanism and insure united harmonious action against influences seeking to disrupt the government."

SEC. DANIELS TO VISIT 'VICTORIA'

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Secretary Daniels has accepted the invitation of Canadian officials to visit Victoria, B. C., on Sept. 11. He and Admiral R. M. C. will make the trip on the dreadnought New York. A division of destroyers will accompany the ship from San Francisco.

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES TO VOTE SATURDAY

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Sept. 2.—It is expected in official circles that the Chamber of Deputies will vote on the peace treaty Saturday, according to the Echo de Paris. Captain Pardoll of the French delegation of the Peace Conference will open the debate for the government. It is announced, the Senate will require four readings before voting on the treaty and consequently it is believed that the ratification of the convention will be promulgated in the official Journal between Sept. 15 and 15.

THREE GOOD RACES RUN OFF

Good Program at Opening Day of Rockingham County Fair Witnessed by Upward of 5000 People

Weather conditions somewhat interfered with the fourth annual Rockingham County Fair, but did not prevent upwards of 5000 persons visiting the fair grounds during the day.

Those who visited the grounds were all repaid as there is all that is necessary to make up a good fair. There is a good exhibit of cattle and poultry and the Grange exhibit of grasses, fruit, vegetables and flowers open to all Rockingham, Strafford and York counties.

It is one of the best seen at any fair in this section.

In the ladies' building there is an interesting exhibit of bread and pastry, canned goods, domestic and fancy articles, rugs and crafts.

The large building devoted to fruit, flowers and vegetables attracted many and the display was a splendid one. The exterior was decorated with American flags and bunting, while an entered the door the eye was attracted by the beautiful sight. The building was decorated with apparatus, phonographs, ferns and festoons of pink and white paper roses. As one enters this building the first thing that attracts the eye is the wealth of color and bloom of the gladiolus exhibit by H. E. Meade of Dover, gladiolus specialist. There are other flowers everywhere to attract the lover of the beautiful, asters, hydrangeas and various fall flowers in all their brilliant colorings. A bouquet of wild flowers picked and arranged by Mrs. Dorothy Pace of Stratham, aged 13 years was very effective. The young miss who is a cripple, having been afflicted with influenza last year, went on her crutches to the woods and fields to gather a choice bouquet of wild flowers to send to the fair.

The display of fruit and vegetables was most interesting and there were many especially handsome specimens, among these a 55-lb. squash. The apples, grapes, plums and other fruits and berries looked most inviting and one hardly could realize so many fine fruits were grown in Rockingham county.

Among the attractive exhibits in another building is that of the Nantuxet Canning Club of 1919, products exhibited by members of the Boys and Girls' Clubs of Rockingham County. Included in this exhibit were jars of peas, beans, corn, dandelions, rhubarb, strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, peaches, pears, etc. On a big placard was the following: "What 1610 boys and girls did in 1918 to help win the war: Canned, 22,800 quarts; produced, 639 tons of pork; 3541 bushels potatoes; 720 bushels corn; $4573. worth of vegetables."

At 1:30 o'clock a work horse show was held with Dr. W. D. Ingalls in charge. Contrary to expectations the race track was in excellent condition and some high grade racing was witnessed, extra heats being required in two of the classes. In the 2:30 class Matlean took the race in straight heats.

In the 2:17 and 2:30 pace extra heats were required to decide the races.

The result of the races was as follows:

2:30 Trot—Purse $300.
Matlean, b. g., Willoughby ..... 1 1
Runway, b. g., Lacombe ..... 2 3 4
Dillonette, b. m., Lynskey ..... 3 4 2

Anna Audobon, ch. m. .... 6 6 6 6
Time—2:26 1-2, 2:27 1-4, 2:28 1-4, 2:29 1-4, 2:30 1-2.

The Atlantic Corporation band was present and gave an excellent musical program. With such a fine musical organization as this, it is not necessary to go out of the city for a band to furnish music for any occasion.

Today's Program.
Today (Tuesday) is Grange day and the program is as follows:

10 a. m.—Parade of show cattle.
10:15 a. m.—Cattle show, inner ring.

Class 6, driving pony, under 14 hands. Class 7, hurdle, manners, conformation and performance to count. Class 8, high jump, height to count. Class 9, flat race. Class 10, pony race.

With favorable weather conditions the fair should be well attended and the most successful yet held by the local fair association.

If you want to get all the news both local and foreign, read the Herald every day.

PYTHIANS PARADE AT HAMPTON BEACH

The three-day encampment of the First Regiment, U. R. K. P., at Hampton Beach came to a successful close on Monday afternoon. In the morning there was a parade of the Regiment, about 150 St. Knights participating under the command of Col. John S. Carroll. Immediately following the parade a clam bake was served under the direction of Arthur W. Simpson of Durham. The following brigade officers attended the encampment:

Brigadier General Henry Milburn of Manchester, Col. Charles M. Corson of Dover, Col. A. W. Griffith of Durham, Col. Charles A. Frost of Manchester, Chaplain William A. Lyons of Lawrence, Major O. J. Pepla of Dover. The companies present included Story Company No. 1 of Manchester, Frank E. Rollins Company No. 2, of Exeter, Crescent Company No. 4, of Dover, Harry S. Parker Company No. 7 of Farmington, Lucius Company No. 8, of Portsmouth, Somersworth Company of Somersworth, Gen. Wolfe Company of Wolfeboro, H. H. Ross Company of Derry, Norway Pythian Company of Rochester.

POSTOFFICE TO SELL CLOTH

Word of the sale of 300,000 yards of olive-drab mottled cloth, the property of the war department, has been received by Acting Postmaster Fred E. Tucker. The sale will be made through the office of the zone supply officer of the war department at Boston and only in lots of 1,000 yards or in excess of that amount.

The cloth is divided into lots numbered 1, 2 and 3. Lot No. 1 is 100,000 yards of mottled, 56 to 58 inches wide, and weighing approximately 20 ounces to the yard, known as "Type A," an all-wool fabric and manufactured by the American Woolen company. The cloth, which is unshrinked, will be sold in 60-yard rolls. Lot No. 2 is also of 100,000 yards of the same weight and width and sold at the same sized rolls. This is known as "Type B," a worsted warp and wool fabric and manufactured by the United States Worsted company. The third lot is one of 60,000 yards of the identical weight and width, known as "Type C," and an all-wool fabric taken from the deliveries of the Park-Wilder company. Lot 4 is one of 10,000 yards, same weight and width, in all wool cloth.

Inspection may be made upon application to the zone supply officer, surplus property division, administration building, army supply base, Boston. No bids subject to inspection will be considered. A deposit in Liberty bonds certified checks or other unquestionable security equal to 10 per cent of the total valuation of the bid must be submitted with the bid and all material must be removed from government custody within 30 days after notice of award is mailed by the war department.

The war department carries no insurance and all goods left in the government warehouses five days after the mailing of acceptance to successful bidders will be at risk of purchasers. The government does not bind itself to deliver the exact yardage as advertised. It reserves the right to deliver 10 per cent over or under the amount. Terms are cash before delivery of merchandise and sale without recourse to quality and grade.

BURGLARS PUT IN BUSY NIGHT AROUND ELIOT

Much Loot Carried Away in Three Places but Fail to Get Into Fourth Place

The house burglar's itinerary was extended to the town of Eliot on Sunday night and Monday morning when three houses were entered and an attempt made to get into the fourth. At each place the booty was used on the windows.

Silver valued at $100 or more was taken from the residence of James Flynn. Here the burglar went through his usual work of separating the silver and poked out the best from the sideboard and other places. The inmates of the house did not hear the least noise, even a bell dog in the kitchen failed to do his duty.

At the residence of Edwina Blaisdell the burglar was frightened in the midst of his work by Mrs. Blaisdell who was awakened at 2:10 Monday morning. She got out of bed and turned on the lights. As she started down stairs the thief jumped out the dining room window. The burglar who could not also the coat and vest of Mr. Blaisdell which was searched in the yard and thrown one side.

Five rings, other valuables and money was stolen from the home of Howard Nelson. The money was taken from a small bank on which remains good finger prints of the burglar. Foot prints outside the house show those of a man and a boy.

The noise made in forcing the window of the house of Samuel French aroused the inmates and the burglar did not enter the home. Previous to opening the window an attempt was made to enter the garage but the thieves failed to get in owing to the construction of the building and the several locks attached.

In the hurry of the burglary at the Blaisdell house, he overlooked much jewelry and other trinkets which were now at hand during his operations.

BOLD ATTEMPT TO GET AWAY WITH TWO AUTOS

Woman Figures in the Steal
Made at the Portsmouth
Motor Mart

The management of the Portsmouth Motor Mart report a bold attempt at auto stealing made on Monday night in which a woman played a heavy part. About ten o'clock an auto which apparently had a man and woman on the front seat backed into an alley in the rear of the garage on Porter street and the driver requested a supply of gasoline.

When one of the employees started to provide the gas the woman left the machine and came around on Fleet street where Mrs. Dickey, the proprietor, was standing. This woman was well dressed and about 45 years of age, and asked Mrs. Dickey to show her where the ladies' waiting room was and made other talk apparently to take Mrs. Dickey's attention from the front of the garage on Fleet street.

As the women were conversing two men suddenly appeared and jumped into two different cars, one owned by the U. S. Shipping Board and the other by the motor mart.

Mrs. C. P. Wyatt, looking out of her window in the Melash block, saw the work of the men and quickly notified her husband, who is employed in the garage, who started after one machine and Officer McLean after the other.

When the thieves saw that they were being chased they jumped the cars, one at the corner of High and Hanover streets and the other on Market street. The women in the garage when she thought the men had got away with the autos made it appear that the man in the auto which called for the gasoline was her husband and began an awful fuss saying her husband had gone off and left her. When she found the employees of the garage were on to the stealing she made a quick getaway on Congress street.

The three men evidently had agreed to meet again in a certain place had the stealing been successful. The police say that the cars were taken by sailors for joyriding but the Motor Mart people say that the two men were disguised by sailor caps and when the auto pulled up on Porter street, the men were hidden in the rear of the car covered with blankets. This part of the story is backed up by Mr. Elsen, another employee of the garage who says there were three men in the auto when he went to fill the auto tank with gasoline after the woman had gone around the front of the building.

RECOVER DIAMONDS VALUED AT $6,000

Boston Police Say Newburyport Woman Has Confessed to Theft From Former Business Man of This City

Diamonds valued at $6000, the property of Thomas H. Glynn of Newburyport, well known in this city, have been recovered by inspectors Flaherty and Dean of the Boston police headquarters, and Martin and Nora Flynn, husband and wife, also of Newburyport, are under arrest, charged with the theft.

The woman, who is 28 years old, broke down at police headquarters yesterday afternoon and Capt. Almsley C. Armstrong says confessed, but that her husband told conflicting stories.

The robbery occurred two weeks ago and was reported to the Newburyport police. Descriptions of the man and woman were sent out and yesterday the inspectors saw them at Southy square where they went into a store and tried to dispose of an expensive piece of jewelry. They were questioned and later taken to police headquarters.

It is stated that the man was a chauffeur. Four years ago the woman was employed as a domestic in the Glynn home. Recently she returned to work there as assistant to another maid. In her statement yesterday, the police state, she said that the gems a floral arch during the ceremony.

taking them. glittered so that she just couldn't help Flynn's first story, according to the police, was that the jewels had been given him by an uncle as a wedding present and that being hard up he tried to dispose of them.

The woman later told the police where other of the missing diamonds could be found and they were recovered. The Newburyport police have been notified of the arrest.

LUBEE-ALLEN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Sanborn on Coffin's Court was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon when Miss Lucy C. Allen of Fitchburg, Mass., became the bride of Joseph P. Lubee, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Percy W. Caswell, pastor of the Court street Christian church. The parlor was prettily decorated with golden glow, hydrangeas and phlox, the decorations being arranged by Mrs. Sanborn and Franklin H. Trueman. The couple stood under a

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn. The wedding march was played by Miss Dora Sanborn.

Following the ceremony a dainty lunch was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Lubee left on a wedding trip to Portland and other points in Maine. On their return they will reside on Coffin's Court.

DEWEY-LOCKE

The wedding of Miss Julia Locke of Jamaica Plain, Mass., and Arthur C. Dewey of Marry, Iowa, took place Saturday afternoon at the Congregational church, Hampton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Newburgh assisted by Rev. Edgar Warren.

The ushers were Elmer Dearborn, Neil Tobman, Kingsley Church, Harold Hayes, Harold Batchelder and J. Wallace Blake. Mrs. Martha Locke, mother of the bride, was matron of honor and the two sisters, Eugenia and Harriet Locke, were bridesmaids. The best man was A. E. Drew of Lowell.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley College and has been active in the work of the Associated Charities of Boston, being in charge of the Roxbury district. She also directed the Girls' League for Community Service. The groom is a graduate of the Theological School of Boston University and was wing chaplain during the war.

They will reside in New Bedford, Mass., where the groom is in Y. M. C. A. work.

TAKES NEW POSITION.

Cecil A. Bishop, who for a number of years has been connected with the local moving picture houses, has concluded his duties and on Monday left for Worcester, Mass., where he has taken a position at the Olympia Theatre, one of the chain of houses run by Charles W. Hodgdon, formerly manager of a local playhouse.

If it is news—remember the Herald has the exclusive great Associated Press.

PRESIDENT WILL CALL A CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 31. — President Wilson in a Labor day message stated that he would call in at an early date representatives of labor to discuss the betterment of capital and labor, and putting the matter squarely up to the people. In the meantime he urged organized labor to remain quiet pending the efforts on the part of the government to lower the high cost of living.

FOUND IN UNCONSCIOUS CONDITION

About 8:30 o'clock on Sunday evening a call was received at the police station that a man was lying in the roadway near the corner of Deer and Belgrade streets. Officer Hewitt responded with the police patrol and found a Delandor said to be Michael Sodyki, lying on Russell street. A bicycle was lying close by and the presumption is that he fell off the machine. He was in a dazed condition and was removed to the Portsmouth Hospital.

The extent of his injury could not be determined, but it is not thought to be of a serious character.

SIXTY WORLD WAR VETERANS IN TOBUS SOLDIERS' HOME

Togus, Me., Aug. 31.—Gov. Hurley of the National Soldiers' Home says there are already 60 veterans of the World War now at the institution. It is expected by another year there will be a large representation at the Home from three wars, the Civil War, Spanish War and the World War. There are now more than 600 Spanish War soldiers on the reservation. The Civil War members are passing away at the rate of about one a day.

Most of the World War men are suffering from either gas or shell shock and a large part of them are in the hospital. A considerable number of them are interested in band music. Chaplain Temple is taking an active interest in their studies, giving them instruction in various branches.

CLAMBAKE FOR SOLDIERS AT GREENLAND

On Saturday the town of Greenland observed Welcome Day to her soldiers and sailors who served in the war. At noon a clam bake was served after which there was community singing.

The principal address was delivered by Prof. Richard Whariskey of New Hampshire College. Ex-Mayor William B. Marvin of Portsmouth, Daniel W. Shea of Washington and Dr. William O. Junkins of Portsmouth also spoke. Medals were presented to the war veterans.

Rain stopped the ball game between the married and single men.

There were band concerts, and a dance in the Town Hall. The committee in charge consisted of Charles H. Brackett, chairman; Dr. D. C. McLachlan and Leroy R. Dabkin.

STRATHAM HAS WELCOME HOME CELEBRATION

Stratham gave a Welcome Home celebration on Saturday to the boys who served in the great world war. The exercises were held at Stratham Hill Park and 2500 were present, the affair taking the form of an Old Home Day, with many former sons and daughters back. At noon a clam bake and corn roast was served. In the afternoon Gov. Bartlett spoke.

A heavy downpour prevented the ball game between the service men and Stratham as well as the other events.

In the evening there was a dance in the Town Hall. The committee in charge was George M. Hall, chairman, Miss Myrtle Brewster, Fred L. Jewell, Mrs. Annie W. Scammon, Mrs. George H. Wiggin, Mrs. George C. Jewell, Frank H. Pearson, Mrs. Hattie L. Brewster and Albert D. Rowe.

HORSE TRADERS GATHER WHILE ELDERS PREACH

Exeter, Aug. 30.—"Brighton," a good expanse of horse traders which curiously enough had its inception with the commencing of the religious meetings at Hedding, has all but passed, although enough of them are left to continue business, and the post has been established this year. In Brentwood, some five or six miles from where the elders expound the bright and exhort sinners to follow the bright and shining path.

Year after year ranks of the horse traders are thinning and their stamping ground is ever receding, although the old timers still take the occasion to come together and barter in horse flesh.

Nobody knows how this custom was established. It is only known that "Brighton" has for many years been held during camp meeting week.

Horses from many sections have been passing through here on their way to the trading grounds. Horses of many descriptions were seen, but all were good looking animals, compared with those of the days before the authorities thinned out the bony and ugly ones.

In former years, before the coming of the prohibition law, it was a rough resort, but of late years all in order, for the county officials see to it that the limits of the law are not exceeded.

TREASURY CERTIFICATES TO BE ACCEPTED FOR TAXES

United States Treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series T 3, dated June 1, 1919, maturing Sept. 15, and series T 6, dated July 1, maturing Sept. 15, will be received at par by the collector of internal revenue in payment of income and profits taxes, payable Sept. 15 and certificates of series T 5, dated June 3, maturing Dec. 15, and Series T 7, dated July 1, maturing Dec. 15, will be received at par in payment of income and profits taxes payable Dec. 15. This announcement was made by the collector of this district, who further stated that collectors are authorized to receive such certificates in payment of such taxes, respectively, prior to the dates when the certificates respectively mature.

"The certificates of these series," said Collector Mailey, "have one interest coupon attached, payable at the maturity of the certificates, respectively, but such coupons must in all cases be detached by the taxpayer and collected in ordinary course when due."

Two automobiles, both bearing Massachusetts registration numbers, came together at the junction of State and Pleasant streets late Monday afternoon, owing to the forward car stopping without any warning. No damage was done.

STATISTICS ON TAXES COMPILED BY MR. GORDON

Concord, Sept. 1.—A summary by Earle C. Gordon of the state tax department of the receipts of the 224 towns and 11 cities for the year ending Jan. 31, shows that the total receipts from all sources amounted to $14,049,403.11, as compared with $13,807,215.25 for the year ending Jan. 31, 1918. The towns and cities as a whole had a bit more cash on hand to begin the last fiscal year than the preceding one, the amounts being $1,119,536.77 for January, 1918, and $886,363.71 for 1919, which made the grand total $15,168,945.88 and $14,793,579 respectively.

Total payments for all purposes during the year ending Jan. 31 amounted to $13,749,567.38, as against $13,763,726.18 for the preceding fiscal year. The town and city treasurers had on hand to start the year $1,419,383 last January, as compared with $1,029,553.82 in January, 1918.

The burden of the increase bore more heavily than usual on the taxpayers, as the receipts from sources other than property and poll taxes showed a falling off. The tax receipts for the current year were $3,045,175.45 for the year ending Jan. 31, and $7,253,630.35 in 1918. Taxes for previous years also were higher in the last year, $342,186.86 and $487,008.74 respectively, and there was a larger volume of tax sales redeemed, the figures being $32,967.44 and $22,646.00, making totals of $9,040,629.66 for the year ending Jan. 31 and $7,773,185.17 for the year ending Jan. 31, 1918.

Receipts Decrease.
Receipts from the state dropped from $1,589,076.25 received in the year ending Jan. 31, 1918, to $1,424,118.92 in 1919. This includes the money for highways, insurance, railroad, savings bank and building and loan associations, taxes, literary fund, state aid for education, liquor licenses, fighting forest fires and juveniles.

Receipts from local sources other than taxes dropped from $825,026.05 to $711,084.54 this being due mainly to the decreased income from municipal owned utilities which brought in only $297,020.07 in the latter year as against $281.42 was received in the previous year.

Receipts from other than current revenue, such as temporary loans, long term notes, bond issues, etc., dropped from $3,592,932.81 received in the year ending Jan. 31, 1918, to $3,192,834.50 in the year ending Jan. 31, 1919.

Mr. Gordon's summary of the payments for the two years covered also has some interesting items. It shows an increase in the cost of general government, health departments, maintenance of highways and bridges, libraries, parks and playgrounds, and interest payments. There was a big falling off in the payments for new construction and permanent improvements of roads, sidewalks, sewer and new equipment. The only increase under this head being for lands and new buildings which jumped from $239,463.95 to $283,327.86. There was a big increase in the expenditure for new construction in 1917 $1,301,949.65, while the expenditure in 1918 was $770,569.78. On the whole, there was less spent in 1918 for charities than in 1917, the figures being $178,734.08, in 1917, and $163,524.44 in 1918.

Cost of Government.
The cost of general government in 1917 was $531,193.53, while it cost in 1918, $570,223.71, which went largely to town officers' salaries. The cost for the protection of persons and property were the same in both years, $368,373.58. The cost for help was $740,111.43 in 1917, and $176,969.00 in 1918. The cost for the maintenance of highways and bridges for the year ending Jan. 31, 1918, was $2,185,076.71, and $2,206,509.71 for the year ending Jan. 31, 1919. The cost for libraries for the same periods were $111,810.56 and $116,680.70. In 1917, the towns and cities spent $1,131.55 for G. A. R. and Memorial day exercises, and in the following year $18,000.30. And in the same years, aid to soldiers and families cost $13,420.07 and $12,605.12.

Parks and playgrounds in the same years cost $68,031.60 and $70,187.51. The cost for public service enterprises which includes municipal utilities, markets, public scales, cemeteries and town farms, dropped from $41,802.01 for 1917 to $356,270.40 in 1918. The principal drop was in municipal utilities for which payments amounted to $408,478.59 were paid in 1917, to $237,606.61 in 1918. Interest payments jumped from $351,947.37 in 1917 to $429,816.84 in 1918. The increases here were chiefly in temporary loans and the bonded debt.

FRANCE STILL HAS MUCH WATERFORCE

Paris, Sept. 2.—Nine million horsepower is the total capacity of the natural waterfalls of France, according to a complete census made by Monsieur Jules Gels, Under Secretary of Public Works. Of that total 750,000 horsepower was utilized before the war and about a half million has been put into operation since 1914. The Chamber of Deputies is now discussing a bill regulating the cession of water power privileges when it is hoped will facilitate the utilization of the remaining seven and three quarters million.

The advantage France may draw from full exploitation of this rich resource in power appears clearly when it is recalled that Germany has only 1,300,000 horsepower in hydraulic resources, that cost three times as much as it did before the war, and that the French water power corresponds to a total annual coal consumption of seventy-eight million tons—eighteen million tons more than France consumed annually before the war.

France requires twenty million tons of coal yearly in excess of her own production, at its maximum. At the present cost, the purchase of such a quantity means the payment abroad of a billion two hundred million francs annually, materially aggravating the situation of French exchange.

The programs of utilization of the unimproved water power complexes the manufacture of nitrate fertilizers so much needed to increase agricultural production in France.

HAVING A BUSY TIME.

The delegates representing the Metal Trades Councils of the Atlantic Coast and all Navy Yard workers are having a busy time trying to get a deficiency appropriation that will maintain the standard of the ships of the fleet and prevent the wholesale discharge of Navy Yard workers.

The delegates are pleased with the hearty cooperation and support they are receiving from all the Congressional delegates to whom they have presented their case and the readiness with which they lend their assistance when their cause is fully understood.

Many ships are tied up waiting funds so that necessary work can be done on them and others are getting along on beat they can until funds are available.

A very interesting meeting was held Tuesday night by the Metal Trades

Council of Washington, D. C. in the A. E. of L. Building. This was a special meeting called for the purpose of entertaining delegates from other Councils and exchanging notes on matters of interest to all Navy and Shipyard workers. The meeting was addressed by Wm. A. McDonald, president of the Charlestown, Mass., Metal Trades Council, and president of District "A" of the Atlantic Gulf and Great Lakes Metal Trades Federation, who spoke on the necessity of a deficiency appropriation and other items of interest in the Council movement.

Mr. N. A. Schanck, representing the Portsmouth, N. H., Metal Trades Council and president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, No. 502, spoke on Harmony and Co-operation and handled his subject most ably.

Mr. L. F. Savage, of Portsmouth, Va., representing the Metal Trades Council of that locality, spoke feelingly on organization and the advantage of greater amalgamation of all Navy Yard and Shipyard workers.

Mr. Fred N. Sten, of Portsmouth, N. H., spoke on the Draftsmen's place in the Metal Trades Council, and left a message for the local organization of Architects, Engineers and Draftsmen to take a more active part in the work of the Metal Trades Council and all Organized Labor movements.

Many of the local delegates spoke on local conditions and the meeting was of great benefit to all.

This delegation from all Navy Yards intends to stay on the job until the success of a deficiency appropriation is assured.

WANT NEW CONVENTION IN IRELAND

Dublin.—The latest proposal put forward with a view to settling the Irish question is to have a new convention, and to make it an elected constituent assembly to prepare and publish a detailed scheme for Irish self-government. This suggestion emerges from the office of the Irish Proportional Representation Society.

The last convention was a nominated body chosen by the government and, though it included many men of representative position, the people had no voice in its selection. The new convention, it is urged, should give real self-determination by letting the people choose their own representatives.

The argument that Ireland has already chosen its representative and made them mostly Sinn Féin republicans is met by an examination of the figures of the last election with a view to proving that the result greatly exaggerated the preponderance of the republicans.

The contention is that the only true way to arrive at Irish opinion is by proportional representation. It is suggested that the new convention should consist of 105 members elected by the existing constituencies so grouped as to have ten members for each group, each elector having a single transferable vote. The sole function of the convention would be to prepare a scheme of self-government.

In Sinn Féin quarters the plan finds no favor, and there is no reason to suppose that they would officially recognize the new convention any more than the old one. The Ulster Party, which came into the old convention, would be hostile to the new one. The attitude on both extremes is, therefore, plain.

GERMANY CONFESSES HER GUILT

Berlin.—Professor F. W. Foerster, Bavarian Minister to Switzerland, recommends an "honest national self-indulgence" for the Germans. Writing in the Tageblatt on the questions of war guilt and the conduct of the war, he says:

"We must investigate our own part in this world brutalizing process quite as much as we should our opponents abroad. Not until then are we able to understand the Paris decision as the tragic result of our own national guilt. The ruthless cruelty with which we were treated we ourselves practiced by the occupied territory."

"Who ever has the slightest conception of the rigorous measures we adopted in the treatment of prisoners and the systematic destruction of industrial plants and the deportation of thousands of young girls will readily understand the resentment of the French people."

"We must be perfectly clear in our minds in respect of our own guilt if we are to be born again nationally. We must always remember that, while the whole world is practicing the politics of might, we on the other hand have systematized the politics of might and elevated it to a new political philosophy."

MISTAKEN IDEA CORRECTED.

I wish to correct the mistaken impression that I do of bench beginners.

One of the most foolish notions about music is that any teacher is good enough for a beginner. This false notion more than anything else is the reason you hear so much bad piano playing and poor fiddling. Why deliberately make a poor start when you can make a good one? The best is none too good for the beginner.

BURGLAR RETURNS LOOT WORTH $300

Dover, N. H., Aug. 30.—The burglar who robbed the residence of Rodney B. Holt on Broadway several weeks ago evidently became conscience-stricken for the property taken, including a pair of men's shoes, a watch, a diamond ring and other jewelry, all valued at $300 was returned Thursday night while Mr. and Mrs. Holt were away on an automobile trip to Portsmouth.

On their return Mrs. Holt stumbled over a pair of shoes inside the screen door as she entered the house. She recognized them as her husband's. Examining the shoes, she found snugly stowed in them the watch and jewelry that had been stolen.

A. E. F. LEADER REFUSES TO GIVE TESTIMONY

Paris, Sept. 1.—General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American expeditionary force, has refused to testify before the sub-committee of three of the Congressional committee on expenditures by the war department which has been conducting an investigation in France.

The general's refusal led to the issuance of a joint statement by Representative Royal C. Johnson and Oscar R. Bland on behalf of the sub-committee, which regret was expressed that there should be a conflict between the military and civil authorities of the government.

In a separate statement in which Representative Johnson did not join, Mr. Bland declared that the general's refusal was an example of the "indifference and contempt" shown during the entire war by the war department toward the wishes of the people and their representatives.

Congressmen Royal C. Johnson, Oscar R. Bland and Henry D. Flood, members of the war expenditures investigation committee of congress, called on General Pershing recently.

There appears to have been a misunderstanding between the committee and General Pershing. The committee members are said to have understood that General Pershing would testify before them with regard to the sale of the surplus stocks and any other subjects on which the committee desired light. At General Pershing's headquarters, however, the understanding was said to be that the Congressmen's call was to be purely social.

KING PHILIP'S WAR

A Review Before the Piscataqua Pioneers, Aug. 20, 1919.

At the last annual meeting of the Piscataqua Pioneers, the following paper was read by Edward A. Leigh, Esq., of Somersworth, N. H.:

My paper this morning, "King Philip's War," is made up from events in the early history of New England, and brief sketches only have been drawn in their histories of that period, and brief sketches only have been drawn upon; if, however, I may be able to carry you, in thought, back to the days of our pioneer ancestors, the object of this paper shall have been accomplished.

I think it was Wendell Phillips, who was credited with the saying, "We read history through out prejudices."

I assume there is more in that assertion than we are apt to think. As we read history, we very naturally form our opinions by what we think history ought to be, rather than what it really is.

After years have passed, and our prejudices have subsided, the events and their causes, have a different look to us.

In our Colonial History, which had to do with events connected with our early ancestors, giving a record of their privations and hardships, the dangers and annoyances from contact with their savage neighbors, I think we are apt to be biased in our interpretation of the reading, and try to have it in accord with what we would like to have it. Now, in the events of history with which this paper has to do, we very naturally take sides with the early settlers of Maine and New Hampshire, and place the blame for the trouble upon the Indian enemies, but if we stop to think that the Aborigines were the sole possessors of this New England territory when our forefathers came, and that they were inclined to be on friendly terms with the Whites until they were actually forced by the Whites to take measures for self-protection, we would be inclined to form our opinion from a different view point.

The Puritans coming to these shores to get away from the tyranny and oppression to which they had been subjected, were no sooner landed than they began to be intolerant in everything that ran counter to their wishes. The spirit of greed was so strong that they wanted everything in sight. By intrigue or force, or under pretense of law, they used every means in their power to appropriate to themselves the land or other property of the Indians, and in most cases giving very little in return, and when complaints were made, they could get no satisfactory redress, so it was no wonder that a day of reckoning came. When we read of the massacres and other reprisals made by the natives in their efforts to maintain their rights, we are very apt to have our prejudices warped, and think the Indians all to blame, and the Whites the unoffending sufferers.

Edward Randolph, an unprejudiced Englishman who came to New England in 1676, expressed his views in regard to the rights of the Indians, which were ignored by the Whites. He says:

"The Magistrates for their own profit, put the laws into severe execution against the Indians, while the white settlers for private gain would either provoke the Indians to break the laws, especially in regard to drinking, by furnishing them with intoxicants, and when found drunk they would impose a fine of 10 shillings, or be whipped, according to the discretion of the Magistrate. Many of the Indians offered their backs to the lash to save their money."

The Magistrates finding no profit coming to them from the whippings, changed the penalty to 10 shillings fine, or 10 days' hard labor, which they thought increased the Indians. Another cause of the war was from injuries inflicted on Philip by taking his land from him on the most trivial excuses. It was the possession of a large tract of land called Mount Hope, a very fertile and rich soil. Some of the English settlers, wishing to dispossess him, were never wanting for a pretense to gain their ends. With the result that Philip was made to part with large amounts of his land.

If we stop a moment, and think that if the Indians, with all that the magistrates were to win the present war, and came here to take from us everything that we held dear, and use the same means to put us in subjection that they have the peoples of Belgium, and Rumania, and the other countries that have been overrun and devastated, and are being ground under the iron heel of Germanic power, which we have chosen of the means used for our self preservation?

Therefore I say, that in reading and interpreting Colonial History, I think we are quite likely to form a one-sided opinion against the party who tried to defend their rights, while in the event of a foreign foe attempting to place the same restrictions on us, the opinion would be reversed.

With this somewhat lengthy prelude, I will proceed with the paper.

"King Philip's War," as it was called, was the first general uprising of the Indian tribes in New England, in their efforts to exterminate the Colonists.

There had been frequent skirmishes previous to the Pequod War in Connecticut, but in that war which nearly annihilated the Pequod tribe, they gave up the struggle, and for several years there was comparative quiet with the Indians. All the bold and restless spirit of Philip, Chief of the Wampanoags of Narragansett Bay, still rinding with the disaster that had befallen the Pequods, conceived the design of an attempt to exterminate the Whites by a general insurrection of the tribes throughout New England.

King Philip, Sachem of Pokanocket, was named Philip by the English.

His Indian name was Pomio-tacon.

He was a son of Massasoit, the nearest Sachem to the Colony of Plymouth, with whom he had made a treaty of peace, which he kept more from fear than any good will. The immediate successor of Massasoit, was his son, Alexander, who preserved the same external show of friendship for a while, but died in a sudden fit of rage when he was detected in a plot against the Colonists.

Philip succeeded his brother Alexander, and became Sachem in 1662. The same year he went to Plymouth, and entered into a treaty to continue friendly relations with the Colony and agreed not to cede any territory without their knowledge.

About 1670 his friendliness began to be questioned. Frequent meetings of the tribes were held and murders of the Whites were of frequent occurrence.

In 1671 an attempt was made to disarm the Indians which was partially successful, so that the war did not break out in earnest till 1675. In the meantime Philip had planned a concerted action of all the tribes that he could reach.

An Indian convert named Sarsamon, divulged to the Colonists the preparations that were being made by Philip and his allies. The knowledge that Sarsamon had betrayed them became known, and he was hunted down and murdered. In turn his murderers were apprehended and executed. In revenge, the Indians immediately killed eight or nine men, and open hostilities were begun.

The Indians did not venture to meet the Whites in open battle, but carried on a desultory warfare by surprising and destroying settlements, laying ambushes for the settlers, and killed all strangers who were caught away from the settlements.

When Philip could no longer conceal his movements he began a warfare upon the plantation of Swanney, in the Colony of Plymouth, in 1675.

In December, 1675, Josiah Winslow led a force of 1000 men against the Narragansetts, with whom Philip had formed an alliance, took by storm a fort said to contain 4000 Indians, and destroyed their village.

The news of the beginning of hostilities soon reached this Province, and a letter written by Henry Sawyer of York, to the inhabitants of Kennebec gave them the first intimation of the trouble.

The news was immediately followed by the attack and plunder of the dwelling and trading house of Thomas Purchase, at Pelepscot, or what is now Newmarket, by about twenty of the Androscoogin tribe, in the absence of Purchase and his son. They contented themselves with taking a supply of liquor and ammunition, spelling a feather bed, and killing a few sheep. A few days later the house of John Wakely, at Casco, or Falmouth, was attacked, and the family, composed of the old man and his wife, his son and wife and three children were murdered, and another child about 11 years old was carried away captive among the Narragansetts.

This discontent was fast spreading among the different tribes as Philip's successes had been diligently at work. An unfortunate thing happened at this time which helped to fan the flame which had already gained such headway.

The principal Sachem of the Saco Indians at that time was a Chief named Squando. He was not only a Chief, but a Powow or Priest, and by the practice of mysterious rites and a species of sorcery, had acquired great influence among the surrounding tribes. He appears to have dwelt near the settlements and was on good terms with his white neighbors, and professed an attachment for them, until an unhappy cause of offense arose, at the very time that the embassies of Philip were using every influence that could be brought to bear to incite the eastern Indians to come into the conflict.

The wife of Squando with an infant in her arms was passing on the river, when some English sailors rudely upset the canoe they were in, for the purpose, they pretended, of seeing whether Indian babies were like brute animals, natural swimmers.

The child sunk, and the mother immediately dying, brought it to the surface, where it soon after died, which so exasperated Squando that he at once became a most implacable enemy of the whites and a powerful promoter of war.

Uniting with a band of the Androscoogin savages he prepared them for an attack on the settlement at Saco. Fortunately the notice of their approach was given by a friendly native and the inhabitants who lived near the falls at once hastened to the Garrison house of Major Phillips, where they remained.

A few days later the house of John Bonython on the east side of the river was discovered at the Garrison to be on fire. Bonython had deserted it a day or two before, to avoid the expected assault.

About a half hour after the fire was discovered an Indian was caught lurking near a cornfield and shortly the Indians started to make the assault on the Garrison, but the inmates opened a brisk fire on them in which their leader was so severely wounded that he retired from the battle and died a few days afterward in the woods three or four miles distant.

The attack lasted about an hour when the savages, discouraged by the resolute defense, retired.

They then began to destroy the adjacent property of Major Phillips, setting fire to his saw mill and corn mill, and burned a house occupied by one of his tenants. They hoped by this means to draw the rest out of the Garrison. Finding this did not have the desired result they renewed their attack on the Garrison which finally resulted through the night.

Towards morning, from the hampering and other noises proceeding from the direction of the burning mills, it was suspected that they were devising some means to set fire to the Garrison.

About 4 o'clock, after the moon had set, a cart was discovered approaching the Garrison, drawn by oxen, the drivers and others protected by a sort of rampart built up in front. It was filled with straw, birch bark, powder and other combustibles which they intended, by the use of a long pole, to throw on the house and set fire to it.

Fortunately as they drew nearer one of the wheels dropped into a hole and stuck fast in the mud, at the same time tipping over 16 one side, by which means the Indians were exposed to a galling fire from the Garrison. Six of them were killed outright and fifteen wounded, which disheartened them, and seeing that their efforts were fruitless they began to withdraw, and it seemed they were all gone. The exact number was not known, but was thought to be 100 or more, while the Garrison contained but fifty in all, with only ten effective men, of which number no lives were lost.

Not long after, two persons going in the Saco river were cut off by this mob of Indians.

In the months following many others at Newmarket and the lower part of Kennebec were killed or captured. About the same time others were attacked in Scarborough. After exchanging several shots the savages left and set fire to a number of houses.

A little later in the season, Captain Wincoff of Newmarket mustered a small company and started for the relief of his eastern neighbors.

While marching on the seashore he encountered a party of 150 Indians and although his party consisted of only 11 men, yet by concealing themselves behind rocks and trees, they killed several of the Indians and the rest retired. Capt. Wincoff lost some of his men. The skirmish took place on the east side of the Saco. Some of the inhabitants hearing the firing of guns, started for the relief of Wincoff, all falling into an ambush where all were cut off, with two others who lived near the spot.

The Indians retired to Black Point, where they burned some houses, and killed a number of the inhabitants.

Under the pernicious influence of Squando in his efforts to foment the trouble, already being waged, the hatred of the whites, and encouraged by the example of the Western Indians, as they were called, who were making daily depredations on the Colonies of Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay, they took every opportunity to rob and murder the people in the scattered settlements of Maine and New Hampshire, and in the month of September they made a descent on the plantations of the Piscataqua, making their first onset at Oyster River, then a part of Dover, now Durham. Here they burned two houses belonging to two persons named Cheney, killed two men in a canoe, and carried away two captives, both of whom soon after made their escape.

About the same time a party of four, and in animal near the road between Exeter and Hampton, where they killed one and took another prisoner.

Within a few days an assault was made on the home of one Tozer, at Newmarket, where there were seven women and children, all of whom except two were saved by the quick wit and courage of a young girl of 13. She, seeing the Indians coming, shut the door and stood against it until the others escaped to the next house, which was better secured.

The Indians chopped the door to pieces with their hatchets, and knocking her down and leaving her for dead, went in pursuit of the others, of whom we children who could not get over the fence, fell into their hands.

The two following days they made several appearances on both sides of the river, 5 or 6 houses were burned at Oyster River, and two more men killed.

By this time all the plantations at Piscataqua with the whole eastern country were filled with alarm. The Seventh of October was observed as a day of fasting and prayer.

On the 15th the Indians made an assault on the inhabitants of Salmon Falls, on the Berwick side.

of the captives were given their freedom and returned home, which in many cases seemed like returning from the war at the southward was renewed in the Spring, but however was of short duration.

Sanguinary skirmishes were frequent, but Philip's affairs were getting desperate. Many of his allies and dependents forsook him.

Those of the Western Indians who had been engaged in the war, fearing a total extinction, tried to concert themselves among their brethren of the other tribes, but several of them were taken, at different times, and delivered up to public execution.

In August of 1676 Philip was overtaken and slain by a party under Capt. Church.

His body was quartered, and his head sent to Plymouth where it was kept on a gibbet for a long time exposed to public gaze. In the death of King Philip, the Colonists were riden of one of the most cruel and bloodthirsty enemies that they ever had to contend with.

During the war, 600 of the Colonists were killed, 600 buildings burned and 18 towns destroyed, making an estimated total value of property destroyed, $1,000,000.

After a few more months of desultory skirmishing, in 1667 hostilities ceased, and "King Philip's War" became a matter of history.

BUY YOUR COAL NOW

Harry A. Garfield, U. S. Fuel Administrator, says: "Buy now—in August of the Autumn will be too late. A big coal shortage is coming. The demand of homes are going back to Europe. Short production has fallen off considerably and a shortage of many million tons looks probable. My advice to consumers is to buy NOW while they can get a selection and DELIVERED."

"I feel bound to say that, as I see the situation, we are likely to experience a coal famine in the Fall."

Walker T. Hines, Director Gen. of U. S. Railroad Administration, says: "Unless the consumer buys his coal this summer he is going to find it difficult to get it this Fall and Winter. I predict a shortage of coal because of consumption of business in general, with which the coal industry must share transportation facilities. There are plenty of cars today and consumers of coal are urged to use them while they can get them."

ATLANTICS DEFEAT THE CHAMPIONS

Win the Post Season Series by Defeating the Navy Yard Team Both Games on Labor Day--Horan Pitches a No Hit Game

The Atlantic Corporation team won both games; the Navy Yard team lost both games. In the morning the Navy Yard team was unable to fathom Bill Horan's delivery and not a hit was made off him. Scruton, who pitched for the Navy Yard nine was hit hard. The final score was 5 to 1. In the afternoon the opposing pitchers were Andrews and Irvine, and the game was not decided until the last half of the ninth inning when Swasey poled one out for two bases, bringing in the winning run.

The morning game in detail:

First Inning.

Dugan opened with a double over Timmons' head; Conlon fled to Irvine; Kincaid was out; Kelley to Hayes; Dugan advancing to third; Swasey scored Dugan by dropping a single over first which Hayes nearly made a sensational catch of; Swasey died stealing; Brackett to Kelley. ONE RUN.

Gannon walked; Irvine attempted to sacrifice and popped a fly to H. Robertson; Hayes fled to Cashman; Gannon stole; second but Ralph Brackett was called out on strike. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.

J. Robertson fanned; Cashman and Bailey both went; Kelley to Hayes. NO RUNS.

The Navy Yard also went out in order, Butler fanning; Timmons flying to Gannon and Kelley grounding to J. Robertson. NO RUNS.

Third Inning.

H. Robertson singled past short; Horan bent out a punt past Scruton; Dugan went out; Butler to Hayes; Conlon was hit by pitched ball, filling the bases; Kincaid dropped a single over Butler's head scoring H. Robertson; Swasey fled to Irvine but Horan did not attempt to score; J. Robertson ended the inning by fanning. ONE RUN.

Manton struck out; Scruton was safe on Cashman's fumble; Gannon was out; J. Robertson unassisted; Irvine was hit by pitcher; Hayes walked filling the bases; Ralph Brackett died; Bailey to J. Robertson. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning.

Cashman hit a Texas Leaguer over the post-season series with the Navy Yard nine, champions of the Sunset League on Labor day, when they took both games. In the morning the Navy Yard team was unable to fathom Bill Horan's delivery and not a hit was made off him. Scruton, who pitched for the Navy Yard nine was hit hard. The final score was 5 to 1. In the afternoon the opposing pitchers were Andrews and Irvine, and the game was not decided until the last half of the ninth inning when Swasey poled one out for two bases, bringing in the winning run.

Horan struck out; Dugan walked and went to third when Kelley let Conlon's grounder go through him; Kincaid singled to center, scoring Dugan; Conlon and Kincaid attempted a double steal but Conlon was out, Scruton to Gannon; Swasey went out, Gannon to Hayes. ONE RUN.

The Navy Yard went out in order. Scruton and Irvine fanned and Gannon went out by the Conlon and J. Robertson route. NO RUNS.

Sixth Inning.

J. Robertson singled over second but was forced by Cashman, Gannon to Butler; Bailey was out, Scruton to Hayes, Cashman advancing to second; H. Robertson was third out, Gannon to Hayes. NO RUNS.

Hayes was safe on Conlon's error; Brackett fled to J. Robertson; Horan uncorked a streak of wildness, walking Butler, Timmons and Kelley in succession and forcing Hayes across the plate; Patterson was substituted for Manton and struck out; Scruton popped a fly to J. Robertson and ended the rally. ONE RUN.

Seventh Inning.

Horan struck out; Dugan hit safely to left but was forced at second by Conlon, Scruton to Butler; Kincaid was third out on a foul fly to Gannon. NO RUNS.

The Navy Yard again went out in order, Gannon fanning; Irvine flying to Kincaid and Hayes hitting a fly to Dugan. NO RUNS.

Eighth Inning.

Swasey out, Kelley to Hayes; J. Robertson out, Butler to Hayes; Cashman walked but died stealing; Brackett to Butler. NO RUNS.

The Navy Yard again went out in order, two three outs, bracketed; Butler went out, Conlon to J. Robertson.

WINNERS OF SUNSET LEAGUE

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD TEAM.

The Portsmouth Sunset League has just closed its ninth season and it was by far the most successful in the history of the League. The attendance averaged 3000 persons each night, while at games between pennant contenders nearly 4000 fans were often present.

The championship pennant was won by the Portsmouth Navy Yard nine, who nosed out the Atlantics, composed mainly of Greater Boston college and school boy players. In Capt. Hayes, who has played a steady game at first base, Capt. Hayes, a first; Butler, captain-elect of New Hampshire State College, at second; Gannon, third, and Charlie Broderick, also of New Hampshire College, at short, composed a well high afloat infield. The defensive play of the Navy Yard nine was remarkable, averaging a little over one error per game.

Scruton was the mainstay in the box, winning six games, losing one by a 1 to 0 score, and also having a game. Weire also pitched well, winning all of his four games. Fontaine was one of the best backstops in the league and was a big aid on the offensive.

The outfield was composed of Irvine in left, Davis in center, both New Hampshire College players, and Mastan in right, who played a brilliant game. Crowell, an old-time semi-professional player, was coach.

John R. Hugelman was manager and has been in action recently making arrangements for a series of games with the winner of the Boston-New York Navy Yards series for the championship of the North Atlantic coast.

A five-game post series with the Atlantics, runner up, has been drawing large crowds. The Navy Yard won the first game 2 to 0, while the Atlantics were victorious 5 to 0 in the second game.

The final standing of the league:

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
Navy Yard	12	2	.857
Atlantics	10	4	.714
K. of C.	8	6	.571
Southern	8	7	.533

son and Timmons fled to Dugan. NO RUNS.

Ninth Inning.

Hayes singled to left field and was advanced to second on H. Robertson's fielder's choice; Kelley's throw got away from Butler and Hayes went in third; H. Robertson stole second; Dugan fled to Timmons; Kelley dropped Dugan's fly and Bailey scored; Dugan was out, Kelley to Brackett to Butler; Conlon doubled to left field, scoring H. Robertson; Kincaid fled to Kelley. TWO RUNS.

Kelley fled to Cashman; Patterson was out on a long fly to Dugan; Swasey made a diving catch off Scruton, and enabled Horan to have a no hit game to his credit.

Afternoon Game.

The Atlantics scored their first run in the third inning when Henry Robertson connected for a single. Andrews hit to Kelley who attempted to make a double play, which miscarried and a bad throw over the home plate by Gannon allowed Robertson to score.

The Navy Yard team made their lone run in the seventh when Ralph Brackett singled, stole second and came home on Timmons' single and a wild pitch. The game remained a tie-up to the last half of the ninth inning. After Conlon had died at first, Kincaid singled and came home when Swasey hit one out in deep center for two bases.

The game was snappy throughout in most of the innings, the men going out in order. Andrews was given perfect support.

Irvine pitched good ball, but his support was ragged at times.

SALVATION ARMY IS BENEFITTED

New York, Aug. 31.—The story of how Thomas A. Edison passed the tambourine and collected contributions for the Salvation Army from Henry Ford, John Burroughs and some less prominent folk, was told today at Salvation Army headquarters here.

It happened on the recent vacation trip of the famous men. They were in the office of a hotel in Tilton, N. H., when a Salvation Army parade passed.

Attracted by the singing they went out to attend the meeting. When they joined the crowd a Salvation Army band was about to pass the tambourine. Mr. Edison gently took it from her hand and took up the collection. The townspeople knew to whom they were giving their money and were more liberal than usual. The tambourine was full of coins when the wizard of electricity arrived in front of Ford and Burroughs.

"Why don't you pass your hat, now?" asked Ford.

"All right, Henry," Edison replied. "If you'll start me off with a good-sized contribution."

Both Ford and Burroughs emptied their pockets into Mr. Edison's hat. So did Edison himself and then turned over to the Salvation Army a tambourine and hat full of money.

MEMORIAL FOR COL. F. W. SANBORN

The members of the First Regiment, U. S. I. C., who are in camp at Hampton Beach for over Labor day, held a memorial service on Sunday afternoon for their former colonel, Fred W. Sanborn of Exeter, who died last February.

Eulogies were delivered by Brigade Chaplain William A. Loyne of Lawrence, Mass., and Supreme Representative Charles A. Frost of Manchester. Today the parade of the regiment will be held at 11 o'clock, and will be followed by a clam bake prepared by Arthur Simpson of Durham.

No More Dish Washing

For many years past Electricity has done the family washing easier, cheaper and quicker than the old hand rubbing way.

Now Electricity is ready to take from every woman's hands what is probably the most monotonous and distasteful task—the dish-washing. The Electric Dish-washer and Kitchen Table combined actually does all the dishwashing in the home. You need merely gather up the dishes and this machine does the rest—drying included.

When the Dish-washer is not in use, the top is lowered, and you have a handy aluminum topped kitchen table.

Come in and see this machine.

Why You Should Buy Coal Now

The price of coal is 75 per cent determined by wages. The wage agreement at the mines continues until April 1, 1920. The Fuel Administration reports that 35 per cent of the mines cannot make any money at the present mine prices. In view of this, how can coal be cheaper this year?
